ALPINES and ROSES

BELLINGHAM, WASHINGTON

TO STIMULATE sales during existing business conditions we have radically cut prices on our high quality rose bushes. Production costs are less, the percentage of first quality plants is unusually large this season, profits have been slashed and the prices practically reduced to wholesale figures. On all rose bushes except novelties, scarce varieties and those that are hard to propagate, we now make a uniform price of 50c per bush.

Orders for five or more bushes will be delivered free by mail or express. On orders for one hundred or more, in any one shipment, a further discount will be given. This should interest community clubs, garden societies, park superintendents and other large buyers.

Shrub Roses

Varieties marked Shrub Roses are those of erect, bushy type adapted to base planting, individual lawn specimens, hedges, or to border a garden of smaller growing roses and thus are valuable features of any planting. They need little pruning and are not at all fussy about soil or cultural conditions.

Polyantha Roses

The Polyantha Roses are dwarf, bushy plants bearing many clustered flowers in profusion, constantly produced. They are especially valuable for massing in groups and for edging lawns, parking strips, or rose gardens. They are scarcely ever out of flower from June to the Autumn frosts and require no pruning other than to keep the plants shapely.

Climbing Roses

In the list of Climbing Roses are found those of the popular rambler or Wichuriana type, useful for any condition where rapid flexible growth is desired, and there are also listed the climbing forms of the hybrid teas and Pernetianas. These are valuable for pillar roses, or to be supported by stakes and give the same type of bloom produced by their dwarf namesakes.

Novelties

At somewhat advanced prices we can supply most of the novelties not listed herein.

The low prices quoted are temporary only, due to Depression Times, and do not indicate inferior quality, nor any decrease of our usual high standard stock.

All our roses are grown two years in the open field and are guaranteed to be budded onto appropriate understocks which give them the strength and stamina so ardently desired by all rose lovers.

Alpines and Rock Plants

In addition to roses we offer a large collection of alpines and other rockery plants, many of which are new, unusual and rare types. Strange campanulas, unusual gentians and saxifrages, encrusted and kabschias, as well as mossy types, are offered. Dainty little mountain plants from the European Alps and the high ranges of India and Tibet and the best natives from the mountains of Oregon, Washington and British Columbia are in our collection.

We offer a good selection of a dozen plants, our choice, for $3.00 postpaid, and invite the opportunity to quote on any variety and any quantities.
